HAIG'S RETURN.

London, December 19th.
Field-Marshal Sir Douglas Haig had a brilliant Naval and Military reception on arriving at Dover this morning en route to London.
He was also greeted by tens of thousands of people on the sea front. The distinguished Field-Marshal crossed on the Belgian hospital ship "Jan Breydel," which was escorted by three destroyers. Well out at sea, the "Jan Breydel" was met by six coastal motorboats, with seaplanes and aeroplanes.

HISTORIAN ON HAIG.

COL. JOHN BUCHAN WRITES
STRONG PRAISE OF GREAT FIELD-MARSHAL.

London, December 19th.
The war historian, Colonel John Buchan, has an interesting article in the Daily Sketch on Field-Marshal Sir Douglas Haig. He says that Marshals Haig and Foch were complimentary to each other, like Generals Lee and Jackson of the U.S.A. The British Army supplied General Foch with his weapons, such as tanks and the creeping barrage, and it was the British Army that finally crushed Ludendorff. General Foch made the plan and General Haig provided the material and much of the execution. But Marshal Haig was not a mere competent lieutenant, trusty in fulfilling orders; he was a great tactician also. Generals Foch and Haig from 1914 to the end saw eye to eye.

Marshal Haig, in choosing the ancient port of Dover for his first landing since the Armistice was signed had but followed the example of those other illustrious soldiers—Lord Kitchener, who first touched English soil here after Khartoum, and Lord Roberts on returning from the South African war.

As the "Jan Breydel" drew alongside the Admiralty Pier, Marshal Haig was seen on the bridge, standing next to Vice-Admiral Sir Roger Keyes, and surrounded by his Generals and distinguished Naval officers.

Marshal Haig was received at the landing stage by Guards of Honour, one of whom from the monitors, and another of Royal Marine Light Infantry with bands.
It was well that in the struggle with armed brutality we should have been led by one so far from brutality. He was always confident of the ultimate triumph of right and always cheerful, even in the blackest hour, for he drew comfort from the deep springs. He cared nothing for advertisement and had no thought for his own career. His unceasing patience was something that belonged to another world. For a parallel to such a temperament we have to look to Sir John Moore or to the great Scots soldier, Montrose. Marshal Haig was faced with ugly facts, but with extreme honesty he preserved in adversity the high heartedness which had fired weaker souls. Britain had not produced a greater soldier since Wellington, and had never produced a greater gentleman.

Marshal Haig will be met by the Duke of Connaught, Mr. Lloyd George and members of the War Cabinet. The Premier has postponed his visit to France in order personally to participate in the welcome.

MURDER OF U.S. AIRMAN.

AN AUTHENTIC REPORT.
London, December 18th.
Copenhagen reports that the newspaper, København, publishes an authenticated account, confirmed by three British officers who were eyewitnesses, of a German on December 18th deliberately killing an American flying officer named Cohen, who was a prisoner at Stalshind camp. The American was shot for momentarily stepping outside the barbed wire, being hit by three bullets. A British officer was simultaneously wounded. His comrades wanted to carry in Cohen's corpse, which was lying in a pool of blood, but the Soldiers Council prohibited this.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S VISIT.

EARLIER THAN ANTICIPATED.
London, December 19th.
President Wilson is coming to London earlier than anticipated. He is expected to arrive on December 26. Consequently the Premier, Mr. Balfour and others have postponed their visit to France.

HISTORIAN ON HAIG.

London, December 19th.
It was Field-Marshal Haig who pressed most earnestly for Marshal Foch's appointment, and it was Marshal Haig whose support largely made possible the great gamble of July, 1918, which won the second battle of the Marne and the war. Like Sir John Moore, Marshal Haig had a great genius for training raw material. Buchan reminds the public that Marshal Haig's first task in France was to train the British Expeditionary Force. Then there was the long waiting of the war of attrition—unspectacular but deadly in effect. Another type of man might have grown weary, but great as was his military talent, greater still was his character.

HOLLAND AND BELGIUM.

ANNEXATION OF LIMBURG
RESISTED.

London, December 19th.
The Hague reports that in the Second Chamber the Foreign Minister, Herr Sijth, said he did not see the necessity of Governments would support the reported Belgian claim to annex Limburg. While he urged that Holland should try to understand the viewpoints of the peoples who had sacrificed so much for ideals, he declared that Holland could never submit to injustice.

KING OF ITALY IN PARIS.

INTERESTING SPEECHES.
London, December 20th.
A Havas message states: "It was Italy's turn yesterday to be triumphantly acclaimed by Paris, in the persons of the King and his son. Unceasing cheering met the King, who wore a grey and green uniform.
At the Elysee banquet, President Poincare, proposing his Majesty's health, said Italy's present greatness was largely due to the King's direct personal action. Events which had destroyed old diplomatic combinations had tightened the bonds of sentiment and interest uniting Italy and France. Through the King's influence, Italy went on the side of France and England when the results of the war was still uncertain.
King Victor Emmanuel, proposing the prosperity of France, said Italy's spontaneous participation in the war and all the other indications of her policy sprang from her ancestral sense of right and justice. From now onward, an era of peaceful collaboration based on mutual respect and loyal friendship should open out for France and Italy. Each could give the other valuable assistance towards securing future liberty and justice."

Owing to her lack of coal, Italy ought to have prior claim to concessions in the coalfields at Hercules. LIEUT. CHATHAM'S
ADVENTURES.BALLOON IGNITED, HE MAKES A PARACHUTE DESCENT.

It is a pleasure to publish the following extract from a letter which the Hon. Mr. W. Chatham received recently from his eldest son, who is a Lieutenant in the Royal Air Force (Kite Balloon Section). In his previous letter, which is dated 19th September, he had been attacked whilst aloft by a German aeroplane, which succeeded in setting his balloon on fire with a "tracer" bullet, necessitating a parachute descent. Beyond bumping badly on landing, which caused him to feel stiff and sore several days, he had suffered no ill effect from his descent.

Extract from letter, dated 13th October, 1918.

I take this opportunity of writing you a short letter, as we are very busy these days. We move forward—practically every day and it is an awful game as there is such a lot of stuff to move. A balloon is no easy thing to go along especially if there is a strong wind blowing, but if the roads are clear of wires and trees, and the weather is favourable, we can manage it with the wind. A lot of the main roads in France however have trees both sides and in many cases there are wires crossing them.

We are having all sorts of discomforts to put up with but these are compensated by the fact that it is very interesting. I was in a big town two days ago which had very recently fallen into our hands and really it was a terrible sight. The centre of the town had been burnt out and, as far as I could gather, the Hun had detailed parties for certain streets whose job it was to destroy all the furniture in the houses in the streets assigned to them. Everything was badly smashed and, in order to break up tables, beds, &c., they had thrown them out of the windows.

We found a couple of poor, old French civilians yesterday for whom, I suppose, the Boche had no use as they were too old. They were a married couple, the old girl was 63 and her old man 66. Poor old things—I did feel sorry for them, sitting in their smashed-up home. They had managed to pick up a few old treasures, as they were being taken away by some French people in the afternoon.

The old man had been wounded in the palm of one hand but not very seriously. We gave them some food and they thought the bread was wonderful after what they had been having—they told us they had been allowed 4½ pounds of bread per week between them and black at that.

They seemed pleased to be out of captivity as they had three sons in the French Army. The Hunns had cleared out most of the civilian population and how these two old people stuck it out I really don't know—it must have been awful.

I saw this town from my balloon just before we took it. I also saw, some distance behind the enemy's lines, a tremendous explosion—it must have been a terrific affair for the flames from it were quite 500 feet high—I have never seen anything like it. I suppose it was a big ammunition dump.

The Boche is doing all he can in the way of blowing up bridges and felling trees across the roads to hinder our advance but it doesn't stop us for long. The R. E. soon put up a bridge—it is really wonderful how they do it—and the trees are soon pulled to one side.

I don't think the old Hun will last much longer now.

FOOTBALL.

SATURDAY'S RESULTS.

There were no surprises in the results on Saturday, if one can except the win of the R.G.A. over South China Athletic. Their win by 2 goals to nil was a little more than they merited. Yet they deserved to win. At times their backs were bewildered by the agile Chinese darting here, there, and everywhere, and one burly defender in particular was sometimes to be seen stock still, apparently lost in thought, or at least in deed.

The Navy were a long time defeating the Royal Engineers. At least they were a long time commencing their goal-getting and then they scored thrice in fairly quick time. McNiven scored all the Navy's goals. It appears that without this prolific goal-scorer the Navy would be a very ineffective lot.

There was a good honest tussle for the points in the 2nd Division match where the two R.G.A. companies, 88th and 89th, were in opposition. No less than three officers were in the 88th Company team, and all played a sound useful game. Scoring two goals to one in each half, the 88th Company were good value for their 4-2 victory.

St. Joseph's College disposed of the second team of the South China Club. In fact had they stuck to their early go-ahead game they might have won by a large margin of goals. There are promising players among the Chinese reserve team, notably the centre-half and the forwards.

St. Joseph's will have to do a lot better to win their Shield tie against the South China Athletic first team on Boxing Day.

The games played are described in the following paragraphs:

R.G.A. VANQUISH SOUTH
CHINA ATHLETIC.

At the very beginning of the game there was a distinct thrill for players and spectators, for the Chinese swarmed around the R.G.A. immediately following the kick off, and a golden opportunity was presented to the Chinese centre, who, much to the obvious disappointment of all the Chinese, shot wide from a few yards' range. Having survived an early disaster the soldiers attempted to share the attacking but were kept in their goal area until Worley very neatly transferred play. As usual the Chinese predominated early in the game, they seem to fall away later in the game. Hull saved a musty situation when the Chinese right winger placed the leather well into the goal-mouth. When Green and Torr managed to get the ball to the Chinese end, Johnson forced a corner. From this Talford headed a neat goal. Within a few seconds Green was racing for goal with all except the custodian beaten, when the Chinese left-back, ever a capable and resourceful player, while in hot pursuit, flung himself towards Green, and managed to kick the leather clean away.

It was a really splendid piece of work. Then followed a spell of attacking by the Chinese. They made rings round the opposing defence for a time until Talford came back, and assisted by Torr restored play to normal. Another corner to the R.G.A. was the cause of further disaster to the Chinese. Again Talford tried to head the ball through, but this time the custodian stopped the ball, but Street was thereabouts and quietly popped the ball into the net. 2-0 against the Chinese was rather hard luck as they had had a rather larger share of the play. Half-time came soon after this, without further change in the scoring.

Play deteriorated in the second half, with honours fairly easy, although the cleverer and finer points of the game were exhibited by the Chinese, excepting the work done by Talford and Green for the R.G.A. Taylor had little to do in the first half, but his best qualities were brought out when punching away a high shot, being hampered by several forwards eager to push him and the ball as well into the net. During one hot attack on the R.G.A. goal Hull saved the position by what might be described as a rear-guard action. Luck was against the Chinese, they encountered a very sound defence, Sherman kicking and tackling excellently. In the end the R.G.A. retired winners. Result:—R.G.A. 2, South China Ath. 0. Referee, Mr. Leach.

NAVY DISPOSE OF R.E.

The Navy team gave their supporters a mild scare on Saturday, through not making a start with the scoring early in the game. They had capable substitutes for the departed, but the soldiers held their own for a long time. New goal the soldiers were the most dangerous in the first half. Townsend, Pascoe and Millard, testing Crocker in the Navy goal very severely. Pascoe bent the field, but his evering shot was well saved by Crocker. The Navy backs were not too reliable at the start, but settled down soon. A well-placed corner by Pascoe was well headed towards goal by Townsend, but Crocker managed to punch away. Galvin at outside right was a new player for the Navy, and a good one to boot. He gave Valler a day out, the soldiers' half being a busy man. When McNiven was able to get rid of the strict attention of Crocker, his forwards began to test Heath's abilities as a custodian. The upright saved Heath the trouble of a very hot shot from Galvin, and the goal saved numerous shots from Nail and McNiven. Lawrence and Blumfield the R.E. backs played splendidly. Half-time:—Navy 0, R.E. 0.

Early in the second half Townsend and Millard nearly had the Navy defence beaten. Good passing helped them along until Townsend delivered a shot that looked a sure goal, but Crocker effected a fine save by falling upon the ball. Charters was still playing a fine spilling game but when he was beaten Blumfield resorted to handling, and as the episode took place in the penalty area, McNiven had a free shot at goal, the first score resulting. This was the beginning of the end for McNiven beat the defence again, Heath kicking at, and missing, the ball. The third and last goal was the result of a perfect corner kick by Galvin, the ball dropping right on McNiven's head and thence into the goal. After the result had been long in doubt, the sailors ultimately finished rather easy winners. Result:—Navy 3, R.E. 0.

Royal Engineer 0, Co. Sergt-Major Fragnell was the referee.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE
DEFEAT S. CHINA RES.

On the Naval ground, South China Reserves fell comparatively easy to the College team. All the scoring took place in the first half. Moosden the centre-forward opening the scoring. Later E. R. Hyndman added a second, and despite several attempts by the Chinese right wing, the teams changed ends at the interval with the College leading by 2 goals to nil.

In the second half the College did not play as they are capable of doing. Two goals in front appeared sufficient, and there was a lot of playing to the gallery. One of the College backs, who last week played an ideal game, indulged in these tactics, and in consequence the Chinese were very near scoring. Their right wing were fast and on one occasion sent across goal, only the forwards on the left wing were not ready to complete the work. A similar thing happened when the left wing centred, a very good chance being wasted. Occasionally Omar, E. R. Hyndman and L. Xavier showed determination but generally the team did not appear anxious to add to the score. Result:—St. Joseph's College 2, South China Reserves 0. Referee, Corpl. Townsend.

88th Co. R.G.A. v. 89th Co. R.G.A. These teams played on the Club ground. The first to score were the 88th Co., Hawley notching the first point. Half forward work by the 88th Co. resulted in their taking the lead before the interval. Youll equalising, and in a determined rush on the goal, Lieut. Stephens put his team ahead.

In the second half, "hands" against Lieut. Jones was the cause of a penalty, and from this Strange equalised the scores. The Victoria company then took charge, Leatherland and Sainsbury scoring, the game ending with the result:—88th Co. R.G.A. 4, 89th Co. R.G.A. 2. Referee, Sergt. Stevenson, Manchester Regt.

The cabaret dance on Saturday night was attended by a large number of pleasure seekers, who say they had a good time.

The arrangements had been made by Mr. Dowley, to whom much credit is due. The building was beautifully decorated with flags and flowers and looked very nice.

Two orchestras furnished the music, one a military band and the other a string-instrument aggregation.

Dancing was continued until a late hour. The proceeds will go to war charities.

In order to save her it was necessary to scuttle the ship near the Sea View Hotel. She was back again, however, at her anchorage the next morning and will be examined to ascertain what damage has been sustained. The cargo consisting of silk, sugar, cotton, waste, etc., must have been considerably damaged, the total loss going into thousands of pounds. The Rairuku Maru is one of the latest ships constructed for the Osaka Shosen Kaisha and was built in Japan in recent time. She is on her maiden voyage bound for South America—Straita Tonic.

SINGAPORE CHINESE DOING WELL.

CHINESE COMMERCIAL BANK.

The sixth annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Chinese Commercial Bank, Ltd., was held at Singapore recently at the registered office, 64, Raffles Place.

There were present Mr. Lee Choon Guan (chairman), Messrs. Gao Khak Khiam (managing director), Lim Yee Soon, Cheong Cheong Koo, Kio Yim Tin, Yap Two Phoo and Chio Jiam Hin (directors). See Boe Th, Lim Teck Siong, Gao Khak Seng and Ong Boon Tat (shareholders). Chia Teong Suan (manager) and Wee Thian Seng (assistant manager and secretary).

The Chairman said: Gentlemen, the directors' report together with the audited accounts of the bank for the year ended the 30th September, 1918, have been in your hands for the past time. I propose that they be taken as read, and the figures therein require no further comment.

In presenting the report and accounts for the past year, I need scarcely remind you that the year under review has been a successful one for our undertaking, thanks to the wise and timely assistance rendered by the then acting Governor, Mr. R. J. Wilkinson. The successful results of the reconstruction have been achieved mainly by the careful management of the managing director, Mr. Gao Khak Khiam, and the staff to whom our best thanks are due. Now must we forget the labours of those directors in 1914, through whose efforts, the crisis in the Bank's affairs was averted. We wish to record the indebtedness of the Bank for this work especially to Dr. Lim Boon Keng, other members of the directorate and some prominent shareholders.

Now that this war is fortunately over, through the heroic fight of our Imperial forces and of our gallant Allies, we can look confidently to the future. We must prepare for eventualities and for this reason your directors have in view the extension of your Bank premises. A scheme for rebuilding is under consideration. The new building will facilitate our business as well as add to the amenities of our great city. I now conclude with my congratulations to the shareholders on the success of our undertaking and successful conclusion of the war on behalf of justice and freedom. Mr. Lim Teck Siong seconded the motion which was carried unanimously without discussion.

A dividend of ten per cent free of War Tax, amounting to $100,000, and a bonus of two per cent, amounting to $20,000, were formally approved; the directors were voted $5,000 for their services during the past year; Messrs. Lee Choon Guan, Khoo Yang Tin and Lim Yee Soon were re-elected directors; and Messrs. Gao Khak Khiam, seconded by Mr. Lim Boon Keng, a sum of $500 was voted to the Red Cross Fund. The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Chairman—Malaya Tribune.

INDIAN CELEBRATIONS.

A Simla message says:—"It is intended that there should be a public holiday in every part of India under the Negotiable Instruments Act in celebration of the cessation of hostilities. Each Local Government is to arrange a date that will be convenient in its province for this purpose. The celebrations will not, therefore, be simultaneous everywhere." Simla certainly is not to be congratulated on the manner in which it has handled this business of setting apart a day for general rejoicing. The occasion is a very special one and might reasonably be regarded as deserving some attention from Simla. But though it would not have required any special degree of intelligence a week ago to anticipate that Germany would be forced to accept the Allies' terms of armistice and that the public would when the news of the German surrender came in expect to have a day of rejoicing fixed for it by the powers that be, Simla omitted to take any thought for such matters. Its mind was, as usual, in the clouds and so we get this absurd and unnecessary arrangement of each locality selecting its own day, only to be told perhaps, when it has fixed up everything that the Local Government has granted a public holiday for another day—Pioneer Mail.

ANGLO-SOUTH AMERICAN BANK.

Sir Robert Harvey, at the meeting of the Anglo-South American Bank, Limited, spoke of the many important developments in the banking world, involving in some cases the transfer of the control of British banks trading abroad into the hands of the clearing banks. He considered that the policy outlined by the chairman of one of the foremost of these banks in saying that he considered it to be incorrect policy for themselves and similar banks to establish branches in foreign countries, preferring to enter into working arrangements with banks trading outside Great Britain, was the correct policy. They themselves, when in March last they made a mutual working agreement with Williams Deacon's Bank, had indeed acted as pioneers in this direction. They had also concluded a mutual working agreement with the London and Brazilian Bank to act as agents for them in Brazil, where they had no offices, and in Portugal, whilst they represented them in Chile and Spain. Further arrangements had been made with the Northern Banking Company of Belfast, and the West Yorkshire Bank. A further step taken by them to extend their sphere of activity was the purchase of the bulk of the shares in the Commercial Bank of Spanish America, Limited. The arrangement in Manchester has already succeeded beyond their expectations, and it was quite possible they might enter into further working agreements of a similar nature.

Dealing with the various countries in which the bank conducted its business, the chairman said that the plethora of money in Argentina had increased; deposits in the banks amounted on June 30 last to $2,500,000,000. The prospects of the coming crop and the present outlook was referred to in a cable just received from Buenos Ayres, which stated that pastoral and cereal situation were in good shape, the wool market was expected that prices would be maintained, and the share market in general good.

As to Chile, the financial year had been one of the most prosperous in recent times, due to the continued demand for the country's chief export. Commercial and financial conditions in Uruguay had also been very satisfactory, and during the last few years the production of live stock had been greatly stimulated by the installation of new freezing establishments. They had every reason to be satisfied also with the work of their recently-established branches in Spain—Barcelona, Bilbao, and Madrid. Spain formed a very important connecting link between South American trade and Great Britain. They had decided to open offices in Vigo and Seville. Their Paris branch was proving its value as an indispensable link in their chain. Generally the growth of their business, already large last year, had been even greater in the period under review, and their net profit had risen to £451,000, as compared with £320,000.

TEA CULTURE IN ASSAM.

The report on tea culture in Assam during 1917, by the Director of Land Records and Agriculture, states:—There were 706 gardens in the province at the close of the year 1917 against 749 of the preceding year. Five new gardens were opened in the Sylhet District and two each in Cachar and Darrang; in Lakhimpur one garden was split into two. The total area under tea continued to increase and rose from 349,928 acres (revised) to 393,490 acres, 12,130 acres being new extensions and 1,778 acres the area abandoned. Extensions took place in the Surma Valley and Upper Assam. The area plucked during the year under report was 374,707 acres, which for the third time bore the same proportion to the total area under tea, viz., about 94 per cent.

The total area of land comprised within tea estates amounted to 1,306,080 acres or about 34 times the area under tea, which is the same proportion as last year. The strength of permanent labour forces has increased from 431,303 to 471,270 and of temporary labour forces from 43,800 to 47,117 persons. The increase is due to the expansion in area. The incidence of work on labourers is calculated to be a 771 acre per man against 707 acres of last year and this indicates that the amount of work done by each person was slightly greater than in the preceding year.

The weather was on the whole favourable, though in some districts it was not good in the early part of the season. In Cachar there was an unusual lack of sunshine from June to August, which was not conducive to free growth, but the season was prolonged by good rain and warm weather during the autumn. In Darrang the rainfall was not well distributed in said, and there was drought at the early part of the season followed by excessive rain, which affected the crop to some extent; in Lakhimpur, severe frosts were reported to have done damage to some gardens. The total rainfall of the year was below the average in Surma Valley, while it was a little in excess in the other Valley except in Goalpara and Sibsagar. The output of tea during 1917 amounted to 241,127,292 lbs. of black tea and 521,414 lbs. of green against 242,022,784 lbs. and 161,000 lbs. respectively. The increase is due to production in the districts of Cachar, Sylhet, and Sibsagar. There was a material decrease in Lakhimpur owing partly to climatic reasons and partly to the uncertain condition of the market. Green tea was manufactured in Cachar and Sylhet and was generally made on contract only. The demand for tea seed fell in most districts and according to the trade statistics 4,548 pounds of the seed were exported, principally to Calcutta. The average Calcutta prices for both the Valleys fell appreciably from those of the previous year. In spite of the continued fall of prices and the difficulties in shipping tea, and obtaining necessary stores and machinery from England on account of the war the general prospects of the industry appear to be good, as indicated by the opening of new gardens and the extension of cultivation in existing gardens. There was keen demand for land for tea in Lakhimpur District.

THE NERVES AND INDIGESTION.

Some Notes and a Suggestion.

A great number of people are at the present time suffering from nervous indigestion. The cause is often easily traced to worry, overwork, lack of exercise, some nervous upset or a general run-down condition of the system. Among school children overstudy or badly ventilated rooms will start the trouble. It is a disease of the nerves rather than of the digestive organs and should be corrected by building up the blood and so giving needed nourishment to the nervous system. For this building-up process Dr. Williams' pink pills have proved most effective in numerous instances as they are known to purify and enrich the blood. With this tonic treatment by Dr. Williams' pink pills there should be combined proper rest, some recreation and abstention from stimulants. As the nerves receive more nourishment through the blood which is being enriched so the symptoms of nervous dyspepsia become less distressing, and after a steady course of the pills health is restored. In cases where there is loss of weight, and pallor indicating weakness of the blood Dr. Williams' pink pills are especially suitable. Start to build up your own health and strength now, for any dealer can supply you with Dr. Williams' pink pills for pale people, and they are also obtainable post free one bottle for $1.50, six for $8 from the China Offices of the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Sechen Road, Shanghai.

CHOICE OF A WAR MEMORIAL.

Discussing the war memorial question in his presidential address to the Royal Institute of British Architects, Mr. Henry T. Hurre said that what was wanted was a scheme for the adequate commemoration of the deeds of every portion of the Empire. A new bridge at Charing Cross with its approaches and the removal of the station to the Surrey side was such a project, capable of being developed in a way worthy of the events it signified.

CHINA GETTING U.S. BREWERIES.

A general scheme of brewers from the United States to China is forecast in a statement by "Rudolph" Ames, president of the California State Brewers' Association. He said: "We are looking to China as the best place to locate. It is going to China in a few days to arrange for the construction of a $2,000,000 plant for beer brewing. Other brewers are making similar arrangements."
